

PEACE PAGEANT PLANS

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE FOR BENEFIT OF PACIFIC AVENUE PLAYGROUND

Considerable progress has been made with the plans for the great Peace Pageant to be held at the Pacific Avenue playground, June 10, for the benefit of that institution. Prizes have been offered for the purpose of stimulating the selling of tickets for the occasion. These prizes are now on view in the show window of Mrs. Eudemiller's Millinery store, Brand boulevard.

First choice of these prizes will be given to the boy or girl who sells most tickets, next choice to the next highest and so on until the prizes are exhausted. C. H. Bott of the Glendale Book Store will act as central committeeman and direct the sale of tickets.

Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, Mrs. R. Yost, Mrs. Warner and Miss Eulalia Richardson will work individually, independently and also as a committee for the purpose of selling as many tickets as possible. They will then report the result to Mr. Bott.

A very handsome picture will be given to the school that sells most tickets for the Pageant. The tickets will go on sale Monday, May 22. As the playground is for all children all sections of the community are expected to aid in making this coming affair a success. Last summer the playground was taken advantage of by children from every part of Glendale. It is spacious and admirably fitted with everything that can help the children to amuse themselves and at the same time get plenty of exercise.

The prizes have been donated by the following firms: Munson's Drug store, Bosserman's Hardware store, Cornwell & Kelty, The Glendale News, Williams Dry Goods store, the Palace-Grand theatre, Crofton's Shoe store, Glendale Book store, Schillings' Dry Goods store, Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles Express and Los Angeles Tribune.

VISIT TO FOREST LAWN

The members of the Garden society who responded to the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Wells to visit the Forest Lawn cemetery nursery last Saturday afternoon spent a couple of most delightful hours amidst very attractive surroundings. Trees and shrubs, some of them rare species, and all in splendid condition, were pointed out and commented upon by the genial host. The nurseries, in which are grown flowers specially adapted for cutting, reflect the greatest credit upon the management; everything systematically grown; weekly and monthly sowings arranged; order and neatness prevailing in every corner—a veritable object lesson in economy of space, system and efficiency.

It is respectfully suggested that the agricultural pupils of the High School would find much to instruct and edify themselves in spending a morning at these admirably conducted nurseries.

Those present on Saturday afternoon were: Morris Caruthers and his mother, Mrs. Caruthers; Mrs. Frank Hester, Mrs. Ella Richardson, accompanied by several friends; Mrs. Nanno Woods, Mr. J. H. Woods, M. B. Hartmann and Mr. Samuel Parker.

COLUMBUS AVENUE CIRCLE

The Columbus Avenue Mothers' Reading Circle met at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, 1447 W. Third street, Tuesday afternoon. There was a fair attendance. Our new member, Mrs. Alan Dunlop, was admitted. The circle finished reading Kate Douglas Wiggin's "Children's Rights." At next meeting the book will be reviewed and the study of another book will be begun.

GLENDALE W. C. T. U.

Mrs. J. N. McGillis, 205 Lomita avenue, will entertain the Glendale City Union, Friday, May 19. The meeting will begin promptly at 2 p. m. The prayer service will be led by Mrs. D. R. Dungan. The parliamentary lesson will be given by Mrs. Opal Greenwalt. "L. T. L." by Mrs. Steel. Dry Federation plans will be detailed by Mrs. Frank and current topics by the members.

CONGREGATIONAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Spaulding, 314 S. Central avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Hagin will be the speaker of the afternoon. A large attendance is desired.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

GLENDALE BALL TEAM LOSES TO MONROVIA—SHADOWS OF COMMENCEMENT

Last Saturday the Glendale baseball nine lost to Monrovia by the score of 8 to 4. The game would undoubtedly have been an easy victory for Glendale, had not Horace Lukens been incapacitated by an injury to his arm which he received at the Covina game. Considering this great handicap, the Glendale fellows played a splendid game. The line-up was:

Glendale—H. Lukens, p.; R. Kolts, c.; E. Paddleford, 1b.; C. West, 2b.; H. McGillis, 3b.; T. Phillips, ss.; M. Fishel, rf.; L. Crandall, cf.; L. Verdugo, lf.

Monrovia—E. Whitcomb, p.; A. Whitcomb, c.; R. Jellison, 1b.; H. Scott, 2b.; T. Gibson, 3b.; L. Harris, ss.; L. Collins, rf.; H. Miller, cf.; A. Kelley, lf.

The team will meet Harvard Military this afternoon on the local diamond. An easy victory is expected.

Domestic Science Class

The advanced cookery class made a trip to Los Angeles last Thursday. There were nine, including the instructor. They first visited the California Furniture store, where the head salesman showed them everything from the first floor to the shops where furniture was being made. After lunch the class went through Bishop's store. Here many interesting and instructive things were seen in operation. Those who enjoyed the trip were: Miss Hanson, domestic science instructor; the Misses Grace Beach, Lola East, Clara Armstrong, Edna Heacock, Myrtle Tummel, Mary Hunt, Caroline Watling and Lila Todd.

The Stylus

Every member of the Stylus staff is working hard this week getting the copy ready for the printers. The material which has been handed in is the finest that has ever been produced for the school annual. Every part of the school will be represented. The snapshots and the jokes this year are better than ever before.

This year the Stylus will be on sale Class Day, June 8. This day is an added event for Senior week. If you do not buy a Stylus this year, you will always regret it.

"The Rostrum"

At the last meeting of the Debating society much important business was transacted. The Constitutional committee submitted its report and it was unanimously adopted. The society adopted the name, "The Rostrum." Owing to the enormous increase in membership it was found that Room 1, in which the previous meetings have been held, is inadequate. Hereafter the meetings of the Rostrum will be held in the auditorium.

The Program committee has perfected arrangements for a debate which will be held May 24, at 3 p. m. The question is: "Resolved, that Wilson Should Be Re-elected." Mr. Taylor, our standpat Republican, and two students, will uphold the negative side, and Mr. H. C. Joy, enthusiastic Democrat, assisted by two students, will defend Woodrow Wilson. This debate will be a thriller and a large attendance is looked for. As this is the first debate given by the Rostrum, no admission will be charged.

CLUB ELECTION

At the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club Tuesday afternoon, the following officers were nominated for the coming year: President, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; 1st vice president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; 2nd vice president, Mrs. C. E. Harlan; recording secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Ellis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. P. Goodwin; member of Board of Directors, Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

The next meeting of the club will be the annual business meeting and in addition to the election of officers, chairmen of committees and heads of sections will give reports for the year.

TUESDAY LUNCHEON

Mrs. L. E. Brockman, 452 East Second street, entertained a number of friends very charmingly, Tuesday. The pleasant living room was most beautifully decorated, while the spacious porch where the guests delighted to hover was one mass of petunias of which the rich color and fragrance were enjoyed by all. An elaborate buffet luncheon was much appreciated. The special musical program was delightful. The vocal duet rendered by Mrs. Clayton Biggs and her talented pupil, Mrs. Howard Walker, was specially enjoyed. Among those present were Mrs. Howard Walker, Mrs. Leo Meyer, Mrs. Fred Walker and Mrs. Clayton Biggs.

BENEFITS OF THE CITY

W. E. HEWITT SHOWS ADVANTAGES OF LIVING IN GLENDALE

"I always wished that the Glendale Laundry was included in the boundaries of Glendale and when the electorate of this strip and the electorate of Glendale agreed to take us into their bounds I was delighted," said W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale Laundry. "Since having been annexed I have kept track of the result and I am glad to say that we are greatly benefited as a result of our annexation.

"For instance the water rate when we were outside of Glendale was $1.25 for 800 feet and 7 cents a hundred for everything in excess of that amount, with an irrigating rate of 5 cents a hundred. Since having been annexed to Glendale we pay $1.00 for a hundred feet with 3 cents a hundred for all in excess of that amount. This is, I believe, one of the lowest rates in the State.

"In examining my accounts for the past year I find that I was paying an average of $24 a month for water. Since the annexation I find that I have paid an average of $8.90 a month. This is a saving of 300 per cent. In regard to electric light it may be observed that the laundry used to pay from $16 to $18 a month; now it pays $14 or lower.

"This is quite a change and is a full justification of the action of those who were responsible for the annexation. Further, before annexation a great deal of loose talk was heard to the effect that the higher taxation of the city would be found a grievous burden. I may state that the taxation of the city is so much offset by the lower water and light rates that the laundry effects a very large saving, which will run up into hundreds of dollars by the end of the year.

"I believe that there is a good deal of agitation in the Foothills district at present over the question of annexation to Glendale. My advice to the people of that district would be to come in at once if possible. They will find not only that they have an assured water supply, but they will get it at such a rate as will effect a similar saving to that I have just mentioned. The same reasoning would apply to Tropico which is also agitating the question of taxation.

"There are also other advantages that I have found in being part of a live and progressive city like Glendale. While the taxation is more than compensated for by the reduced water and light rates the laundry is getting better fire protection than it had. It is also getting effective police protection, and enjoys the official supervision of the city in such matters as sanitation and garbage. The streets also receive better care.

"Then there is another feature which is of vast importance and is worthy of consideration by the Foothills district and other unannexed territory close to Glendale—we are in closer touch with the officials and can get what we want from them with much greater ease than when we had to look for protection from the county supervisors. The city administration is approachable at any time. It is accessible once a week at its meetings also. The county supervisors are difficult of access; they have a vast district to look after and a large expenditure with many demands.

"In the case of the Foothills I should imagine that everyone would see at a glance that what is wanted is water on the lots; otherwise there can be no subdivision. The moment the Foothills are in the city it will be 100 per cent easier to sell land in that section."

MOTHERS' STUDY CIRCLE

What was possibly the most interesting and profitable meeting of the Pacific Avenue Mothers' Study Circle, was held Monday, at the Pacific Avenue schoolhouse. Those present were: Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. C. H. Toll, Mrs. S. C. Packer, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Minette Sherman, Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mrs. James Begg, Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Mrs. Tatlow, Mrs. Steele, and Mrs. Warner.

Mrs. C. H. Toll took up the reading of Elizabeth Harrison's "Child Nature," and also gave the circle many valuable hints as to methods of conducting the circle and assuring a constant addition of members. It is thought that the study of "Child Nature" will be finished in two meetings, when another study will be begun. The meeting took place at 11 a. m. and luncheon was at 12. It is found that the present hour of meeting is rather early and henceforth the society will meet at 2 p. m. and continue till 4 p. m.

REWARD OF BELIEVERS

REV. W. E. EDMONDS TELLS OF THE JUDGMENT OF THE FAITHFUL

Rev. W. E. Edmonds on the "Judgment of Believers," speaking to the Monday class at the Presbyterian church, brought the lesson on the judgment of the believer.

In the minds of most people there is a vague idea of a judgment day; but the Bible student knows there are judgment days. "As it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment, believers come into judgment but not in time nor place with the unbeliever. The judgment of the believer is by himself as to the life he now lives and by Christ as to his works."

The first is every day of his life and has to do with the circumstances in which he lives, habits that are questionable, character, family, social and business relations, dress, speech and value of God's Word.

The second judgment is in the future, when the believers, dead and living, are caught up to meet the Lord in the air, to stand before the judgment seat of Christ to be judged for the deeds done in the body. This judgment is for reward and not for condemnation as in the case of the unbeliever. The result is reward or loss of reward, but whatever the result the believer is saved, for his sins are atoned for, and are "remembered no more forever."

Interest in the Bible studies has not failed in the least, the attendance has been splendid, and many have received a blessing. All are looking forward to conference at the close of the classes during the first four days of June. The conference begins with a fellowship supper and finishes with an evangelistic meeting of power by the Holy Spirit.

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

All members and friends of the Glendale Garden society, men and women, will be made welcome at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Seaman, 112 N. Central, Tropico, tomorrow, Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Those going by street car should get off at Tropico avenue, walk west to Central; the house is the second residence north.

This afternoon section of the Garden society bids fair to prove a very enjoyable innovation. What can be more pleasant than to visit in rotation each others' gardens, and to talk informally over all matters pertaining to the great out-of-doors. There will be no formal, painstaking entertaining—just a simple, social, happy time. Tomorrow, Thursday, 2:30 o'clock, at 112 N. Central, Tropico.

COLUMBUS STREET SCHOOL SINGLE TAX MEETING

A meeting will be held May 18, Thursday, 7:30, to have the land question discussed in its relation to wages and high cost of living.

Mr. Chas. James will be the principle speaker but others will help in the discussion. Petitions are circulating in behalf of a state-wide single tax on land values. All are cordially invited. The meeting will close at 10 sharp.

DEATH OF MRS. CARSON

Mrs. Elmira Carson passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. McConnell, 135 Orange street, Glendale, May 16th, 1916. She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Lew Scholes of Chicago, Mrs. E. L. Brown of San Fernando, Mrs. H. L. McConnell of Glendale, Mr. Charles Carson of Laramie, N. D., and Mr. J. F. Carson of Canada. The remains will be shipped to Chrisman, Ill., for interment, Friday, May 19th. Scovern-Letton-Frey Co., morticians.

NIGHT STORM WARNINGS

At the request of marine interests, especially of the Great Lakes, the United States Weather Bureau is preparing to introduce a new system of night storm warnings, consisting of three lanterns in a vertical line, instead of the two lanterns hitherto employed. By this arrangement it will be possible to indicate the expected direction of the wind.

Experiments have proved that, to be seen separately by the naked eye, lanterns should be placed approximately four feet apart for each mile the observer is distant. To obtain great brilliancy, a standard gas-filled lamp of the tungsten type is now being tested.

WEATHER FORECAST—Cloudy and foggy tonight; fair Thursday; southerly winds.

MOVES IN THE WAR GAME

There has been a lull in the activities of the various war centers. This is undoubtedly due to the working of the plans devised by the general board of strategy that now is responsible for the moves of the Allies in all parts of the world. Had such a board been in existence a year ago the war would have been so much nearer its close.

Under the direction of the general board of strategy no move of the Allies is now taken unless approved by that board. In this way it can be seen that all talk of inactivity here or there is a complete mistake. The activity of any part of the different fronts is part of the general strategy. It was the lack of this common head to direct the moves of the Allies that led to such foolish expeditions as that of the British in their attempt to force the Dardanelles. The 100,000 men sent on that expedition and the 89,000 who were put out of the fighting by death or wounds could have made the greatest difference at one time on the western front in the British drive at Ypres.

The time of individual moves on the chessboard of war, as far as the Allies are concerned is now over and whatever may be said to the contrary by persons who do not know, do not reflect or are interested in suppressing the truth, the British, the Italians and the Russians are under the direction of the one common head and whatever moves they make are dictated by a common policy.

The Italian army, which has done some wonderful fighting in this campaign, has been receiving very little credit throughout the world; but it was the Italians who by their move on Gorizia, compelled the Austrians to stop sending a vast army to aid the Germans on the west front. The Italians have been fighting like heroes and a great part is awaiting them in this wonderful war when the general move on all fronts that is contemplated by the central board of strategy comes to be put in operation.

There will be much fighting for some time to come; but there is little hope of peace until the Allies find themselves in a position to dictate it on their own terms. The labors and sacrifices of the nations that were not seeking war but had it thrust on them are, they say, not to have been made in vain and they are seeking some result commensurate with their efforts. That result may still be some time in arriving.

POLITICAL SITUATION IN CHINA

China is suffering from the revolution which the reactionary movement of Yuan-Shi-Kai in establishing a new monarchy provoked. The revolutionists are not satisfied with the fact that "Emperor" Yuan abolished his empire and took back the titles conferred on the high officials of his government. They maintain that Yuan must not be retained in the position of president of the republic. They say he has shown himself untrustworthy.

Yuan-Shi-Kai is able and astute; but he lost his head when he sought to make himself emperor of China. Dr. Sun-Yat-Sen, first president of the Chinese republic, showed his great wisdom in resigning when he did. There are many things to be settled in China that can only come out of the throes of another revolution. That revolution is now in progress.

There is no doubt that Yuan-Shi-Kai was warned by Japan that his plan for establishing a new monarchy in China would stir up rebellion. Great Britain, Russia and France also warned him; but he persisted and his abandonment of the scheme comes too late. The country is now stirred to its depths. The Chinese have now no faith in Yuan-Shi-Kai. He was once the most popular man in China and had the opportunity to become the greatest benefactor of his race, but he threw it away. It is not believed that he will ever again recover the position he once occupied.

It seems that there is a strong feeling of distrust and antagonism toward President Yuan throughout the country and all his efforts to convince the people that he is sincere in his abandonment of his monarchical scheme are fruitless. There seems to be nothing left him to do, if he is anxious to prove his sincerity, except to resign his office as president and retire to private life.

China has many able men besides Yuan-Shi-Kai. It would be absurd to think that there are not such men. It is part of Yuan's conceit that he imagines that he is necessary to the welfare of the country. His retirement would be the signal for a cessation of the disturbances and fighting and a successor would be easily found.

SHOPPING BY PARCEL POST

One of the most interesting experiments recently made in the use of the parcel post has been conducted by the Sacramento County Grangers. This experiment is under the David Lubin plan of selling farm products direct from the country producer to the city consumer by means of the parcel post. The principal Lubin enterprise is located in Sacramento where the plan is being tried out. The Sacramento County Grangers, headed by Joseph Holmes, master of the California State Grange, assumed the burden of the experiment.

"After the first eight days of operation," Holmes says, "there is no question in my mind that the plan is feasible. It presents unbounded possibilities and would be a great success." Within four days after the plan was put in operation the retailers began to feel the effects of it. Retail prices were cut down enormously and now a strong fight is being put up against the plan.

Whatever may be thought of the plan it is at least worth while examining what it is. The farmer mails or sends in tags on which he designates the products he has for sale and the prices at which he holds them. The housewife mails, phones or brings her order to the central office, paying with coupons. The orders are distributed among the farmers and the next day an automobile delivers the product. The farmer then receives cash to the amount of the coupons.

This system, of course, is in its infancy. It can easily be seen

CHAUCER'S LONDON

Forget six counties overhung with swoke.
Forget the snorting steam and piston stroke.
Forget the spreading of the hideous town
Think rather of the pack-horse on the down,
And dream of London small, and white, and clean,
The clear Thames bordered by its gardens green;
Think that below bridge the green lapping waves
Smite some few keys that bear Levantine staves
Cut from the yew-wood on the burnt-up hill,
And pointed fars that Greek hands toiled to fill,
And treasure's scanty spice from some far sea,
Florence gold cloth, and Ypres napery,
And cloth of Bruges, and hogsheds of Guienne;
While high the thronged wharf, Geoffrey Chaucer's pen
Waves over bills of lading.
—William Morris.

I'M GLAD

I'm glad the sky is painted blue,
And the earth is painted green,
With such a lot of nice fresh air
All sandwiched in between.

OF PRACTICAL USE

One of the most useful applications of electricity about the household is a motor-driven exhaust fan for the kitchen. Ventilation by opening windows and doors never has been satisfactory, and unless the air is properly changed at frequent intervals, odors from cooking are bound to penetrate the entire house, and linger in the rooms long after mealtime.

The motor-driven exhaust fan consists of a small motor attached in the upper pane of a window near the stove or range, with a powerful rotary fan. The motor is connected with the lighting circuit, and provided with a snap switch for starting and stopping. It forces out a steady stream of air, carrying with it smoke, gases, and objectionable odors.

To construct such an arrangement makes a fine piece of work for boys who have skill as amateur electricians.

FINEST POETRY WAS EXPERIENCE

The finest poetry was first experience; but the thought has suffered a transformation since it was an experience; cultivated men often attain a good degree of skill in writing verses, but it is easy to read through their poems their personal history; anyone acquainted with the parties can name every figure; this is Andrew, that is Rachel. The sense thus remains prosaic. It is a caterpillar with wings and not yet a butterfly. In the poet's mind the fact has gone quite over into the new element of thought, and has lost all that is exuvial.—Emerson.

UNIQUE RESCUE COMPANY

Rescue company No. 1, of the New York Fire Department, is unique. The men are equipped with helmets and oxygen tanks that permit them to penetrate heavy smoke and gases into which they could not otherwise go. In spite of the extraordinary dangers, no man has thus far been lost.

An officer and a fireman, carrying a life line, go into gas, fumes or smoke, and the other firemen wait outside ready to follow in case of trouble. In the formation of the company it was necessary to select men physically perfect and in the prime of life, for the helmet, potash cartridge, oxygen tank and equipment weigh fifty pounds, centering about a man's neck and shoulders.

The oxygen supply is sufficient for an hour and twenty minutes. The gauge of a dial gives warning to the firemen twenty minutes before the supply is exhausted.

UTILIZING WASTE

Today the inventive genius of the world is turning its attention to new methods of utilizing waste. Ellwood Hendrick, a noted chemist who has had exceptional opportunity for viewing the industries of the United States on a broad scale, states that in this country there has been a waste in raw material which might have been made into paper at the rate of 40,000 tons a day, which is burned up in just one branch of the lumber industry.

"Counting paper," he writes, "at from forty to fifty dollars a ton, makes this waste amount in money to upwards of $2,000,000 a day."

Manufacturers are beginning to see that the scarcity of timber is rapidly approaching a point where waste lumber will be valuable enough to collect and utilize. It is argued that more young men should devote themselves to chemistry, with a view to making their life work that of helping to conserve their country's resources.

WOOL CAR

The wool car of the Department, which left Livingston, Mont., on January 19, has given demonstrations in more than 50 towns of the important sheep-growing States, to at least 6,000 persons directly interested in wool growing. Since leaving Livingston the car has toured Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, and Utah in order to demonstrate that the production of better wool means more money.

So when spring comes,
And sunshine comes again like an old smile,
And the fresh waters and awakened birds
And budding woods await us, I shall be Prepared, and we will go and think again,
And all old loves shall come to us, but changed
As some sweet thought which harsh words veiled before,
Feeling God loves us, and that all that errs
Is a strange dream which death will dissipate.

—Robert Browning.

STRANGE FACTS ABOUT BIRDS

*On September 30, 1894, an astronomer at Shere, England, was studying the sun through a telescope. Every few seconds, during the ten minutes he watched, a bird was seen to pass slowly through his field, flying in a southerly direction, but with the naked eye not a bird could be seen.

Our ears really tell us more than our unaided eyes about the day fliers which are traveling far up in the sky. With nothing to turn them from their course, sound waves carry surprising distances either up from the earth or down to it.

Balloons tell us how clearly they can hear voices of people who are scarcely visible to them. So we may hear the notes of passing birds which are traveling at too great a height to be seen. The mellow whistles of certain snipe and plover tell us that they are passing along the birds' airline when it is impossible for us to see them. But, if we answer, we may in time see a black speck in the sky, which responds to our call and finally circles close overhead.

On one occasion, in Central Park, New York City, I heard the flutellike call of a yellow-leg snipe, which was migrating high over the city. Perhaps he was calling to some companion in the sky. Certainly there was nothing on the earth to attract him. But putting my fingers to my lips, I whistled a loud imitation of his notes. Quickly he answered. I whistled again, and soon could see a black dot circling high above me. Larger and larger it grew, louder and more frequent became his cry, and within a minute, much to the surprise of passersby, the bird was flying anxiously back and forth just over my head. But unable to find the bird which had called to him he soon mounted high in the air and continued on his journey.—Frank M. Chapman, in the April St. Nicholas.

LOVE

A little girl said:
"I love you so much, mamma. I get tired of loving Dolly because she never loves me back."
"And is that why you love me?"
"That is one why, mamma, but not the first one or the best."
"And what is the first one and best?"
"Why, mamma, don't you guess?" and the blue eyes were very bright and earnest. "It's because you loved me when I was too little to love back."

We love God because he first loved us. It is the love of God for us that awakens and feeds our love for him.—Lutheran Observer.

HE THOUGHT HE UNDERSTOOD

John Wetmore Hinsdale, ex-president of North Carolina bar, tells this incident.

"An Italian applied for naturalization papers. He swore allegiance to the United States Government, and answered several questions quite satisfactorily.

"At last the judge asked: 'Do you belong to any society or organization inimical to the Government of the United States?'

"This was too much for the Italian to understand and he was silent. The judge explained the meaning and again asked the question. A gleam of understanding overspread the face of the Italian, and he replied: 'Yes, judge, I'm a Democrat.'"

TROPICO TRUSTEES

The Tropico Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday evening at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., with President Frank E. Peters, Fred A. Alspach, Chas. H. Henry, Walter C. Seal present; A. C. Boyce absent. The following city officers were also present: Margaret R. Coleman, clerk; Hartley Shaw, city attorney; I. C. Wasson, street superintendent; J. W. Gould, city marshal, and Dr. W. C. Mabry, health officer. The minutes were read and approved.

The regular order of business was suspended in order to take up the matter of the appeal of the Keystone Iron works in regard to the assessment list for lighting standards on San Fernando boulevard. A representative of the Keystone people was present and pointed out to the board wherein the former map and list was irregular and several small errors occurred in the footings. After a short discussion of the matter the city engineer was instructed to prepare a new map and assessment list.

A communication was read from the city council of Covina extending an invitation to the local board of trustees and others to attend the cornerstone laying of the Masonic Home for Children at that place on Saturday, May 20th, 1916. The clerk was requested to answer the communication and state that those who could would attend.

A communication was received from the Tropico Chamber of Commerce which embodies a resolution stating the dissatisfaction of the people of Tropico with the ruling of the Railroad Commission in fixing the water rates of Tropico and more particularly the rates for fire hydrants, which they think are excessive. The resolution was referred to the city attorney.

A communication was read from N. C. Burch, former city clerk, in which he set forth the intolerable condition of the water rates, etc., and pointed out three ways in which Tropico could obtain the proper relief, "Annex to Los Angeles," "Annex to Glendale" or purchase the water systems. Communication was placed on file.

Mr. Coudin, representing the Board of Public Works, was present and addressed the board in regard to the drainage outlet of Brand boulevard at the S. P. tracks, stating that something would have to be done to take care of the storm water which is discharged into the city of Los Angeles at this place, as it was shown that much damage was done to property in that section by storm water last winter. The board could not see wherein they had any right to expend the city's money in building water drains within the city limits of Los Angeles. The matter was left to the city attorney for investigation.

An ordinance establishing grade lines for the improvement of Acacia avenue between Central and Brand was read for the first time and on motion was ordered passed on first reading.

Dr. Mabry reported that he had obtained a copy of the agreement between former city attorney and Mrs. Larson in regard to the conditions under which Adams street should be improved. The copy was turned over to the city attorney.

The street superintendent was instructed to have the sidewalk on Acacia street, near Adams, repaired while the street contractor was working in that neighborhood.

President Peters addressed the board in regard to the numerous auto accidents which occur in Tropico, pointing out the fact that almost all of such accidents happen on Tropico avenue, between San Fernando boulevard and Central avenue, caused by the narrowness of Tropico avenue at this point. He spoke very favorably of widening Tropico avenue between Central and San Fernando boulevard. He was followed by Wesley Bullis, a property owner along this part of Tropico avenue, and stated very clearly that the property owners along this street are satisfied with its width and will fight any widening proposition that might come up. No action taken. Adjournment.

WONDERFUL PEOPLE

One who has often visited in the south tells of the following story: Two negroes were ambling along the streets of Louisville in the days when electric cars were an innovation, and one of the darkies, on seeing the trolley whiz by, asked his pal: "How you reckon dat kyar gets along?"

"Why, I'll tell you," answered the more sophisticated negro, "de kyar gets along by dat little wheel dat runs along de wire. De Yankees invented dat 'ere little wheel."

"Well," continued the first darky, lost in wonderment, "Yankees suttinly are de mos' wonderful people I ever see. Dey come down here and set de niggers free an' now thy've set de mules free, too!"

A SKETCH

ELECTRIC HEAT

It is predicted by eminent electrical authorities that electricity will furnish heat for warming houses in the future. The plan has been seriously tried in many places in Norway, and reports made by the royal commission indicate that a pleasant, even temperature is possible at a comparatively small expenditure for the electricity.

Thirty-five watts to thirty-five cubic feet of space will keep a room at sixty-four degrees Fahrenheit, when the thermometer outside registers as low as five degrees. Under these circumstances electricity is assumed to be cheaper than other fuel, when the energy can be secured.

"Impatient people cheat themselves out of the best of things. We can almost always have our choice between something good today and something better tomorrow. But the highest good never will be ours until we have learned to wait for it."

If life is an opportunity, so is every hour. If existence is a big thing, so is every day. To undervalue the minutes means that we do not rightly estimate life itself. Respect the little fragments of time, which, fitted together in the great mosaic, constitute life.

HOW TO GROW OLIVES

So rapidly is interest growing in the olive as a great coming California industry there are now more olive trees in California still too young to bear than bearing olive trees—that the University of California has enrolled 692 students in its free correspondence course on the olive, and 224 have finished the course.

That California has practically a monopoly of the market for ripe olives is pointed out by Professor F. T. Bioletti of the University of California in this correspondence course. Particularly appropriate is it, therefore, for all Californians to aid the good cause of "California Ripe Olive Day" to be celebrated on May 16.

In Southern Europe ripe olives are produced, but only for local consumption. One of the great contributions of the University of California to the agricultural prosperity of California was the discovery by the experiment station of successful methods of canning and bottling ripe olives, and the result has been to win for this state an industry in which Europe has not been able to compete.

In the university's correspondence course on the olive it is pointed out that to clip the tips from the olive pits before planting will save practically a year in the growth of seedlings. This free correspondence course give instruction in the preparing of the seedbed, the planting of the seeds, the care of the seedlings, the preparation of the orchard, the setting out of the trees, cultivation, green manuring with cover crops, irrigation, pruning, the top working of old trees so that unprofitable varieties may be worked over into profitable strains, the making of olive oil and ripe olives, pickling olives, and on the much needed matter of standardization of the sizes of olives for market purposes.

California olive orchards promise an immensely long life of usefulness, according to the university, for in Europe olive trees hundreds of years old are still producing profitable crops.

BUILDING 15 YEARS AGO AND NOW

Building is not what it used to be. That's the conclusion a lot of persons have arrived at who figured on erecting a home for the money that their fathers did. "Why, I could have built the house you want $2,000 for, for about $1,100 fifteen years ago," a man remarked to a real estate dealer recently. And then the real estate dealer differed and gave his reasons. Nowadays the average person wants a home, with modern conveniences, for the price he might have paid once upon a time. But he forgets that—a furnace will cost $125, where the coal stove cost but $30; that a lighting system, wiring and fixtures, costs about $90, where the oil lamps once cost but $5; that plumbing, bath and lavatory equipment, which takes the place of the old tub and the basin, costs about $275; that a hot water system costs $40; that a modern basement with a laundry costs $125 and that hardwood floors, which obviate carpets, cost about $100. Figuring it all up it is necessary to spend from $700 to $1,000 more in order to replace the features of father's home with the features of a modern, up-to-date residence which may be rented or sold or lived in with comfort.—Michigan Contractor and Builder.

SUCCESSFUL INNOVATION

The employment of girls and women as machinists in England has been successful, judging from the quantity and quality of the work turned out by some of the British establishments which were depleted of men owing to the international disturbances in Europe. In all, some 800 are employed. In one case where there are 300 girls, sixty men are needed for tool-setting, and other lines of work where woman's strength is not sufficient.

Some of the women have been at work since May of 1915. Women superintendents are in charge day and night. Not only are the products turned out according to standard, but the average output is reported to be wonderfully high.

IMPORTANT FACTS

Sixty million people in the United States live under Prohibition laws. One-half of all the people now living in licensed territory in the United States live in four states—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and New Jersey. One fourth of all the people in the Nation who live in saloon territory live in six cities—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Cleveland. One-half of all the saloons in the United States are located in fourteen cities.

Give fools their gold, and knaves their power;

Let fortune's bubbles rise and fall;
Who sows a field, or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all.
—Whittier.

THE RABBIT

A rabbit works its ears and tries
To watch you with its rabbit eyes;
Its saucy little tail it flounces,
And when it hits the ground it bounces!

—Mary Carolyn Davies in New York Tribune.

COST SYSTEMS

In this present day of efficiency and organization it is astonishing to find so few accurate accessible cost records when the maintenance of such data is so great a business asset.

The oft repeated remark of some of our well known constructors that "To secure a contract now days you must leave something out" can be applied with emphasis when the losses incurred from some defective bidding is made known.

When this is the case it merely serves in most instances to cause the defaulting contractor to renew his efforts in securing further contracts to keep himself afloat by "borrowing" from Peter to pay Paul.

An accurate system of records prevents the quite frequent error of an oversight in assembling quantities by the use of a regular form for such purposes.

The effect upon the material supply house when such data can be shown or is known to exist serves to place the prospective purchaser in a position to secure not only the necessary materials at his command but affords him the best price obtainable under the best terms of payment.

Cost systems permit of a comparison of materials, reliability of subcontractor and efficiency of labor and by such comparison the honest material man, subcontractor and laborer come into their own not failing to mention the final profits and reputation accruing to the general contractor.

Next to personal integrity the keeping of proper costs in a tangible manner is a large factor in the business success of the operator.—The Builder and Contractor.

ERASMUS TO WILLIAM OF GONDA

"You will perhaps, my William," wrote Erasmus to his friend William of Gonda, "be feeling by this time no slight surprise, that while you are piling letter on letter, I slumber and make no return. You alternate prose with verse and verse with prose, and try by your very pertinacity to extort something from me and force me to break silence. I on the other hand appear to have forgotten my old habit (for I was wont to harass you with the frequency of my letters), and be prepared with no reply."

"That old love of mine for thee, which thou hast guessed to be extinct, . . . grows stronger every day, and will never yield to any chances of fortune. . . . You pretend to be so impatient at my silence, that you say you have no heart left and yet when you learned that the epistle which I was hastening to send you was in hand, you attacked it while on its way, and pulled it to pieces before you had seen it, a process which I should call prophecy rather than criticism, unless perchance you estimate it by your judgment of some poems which I composed some time ago, and which you charge with obscurity. I admit for my part that it is important for the poet as well as the orator, that his speech should be not only learned, but brilliant and lively. Witness Horace:

"No verse is perfect where we fail to find
The charm that captive leads the hearer's mind."

"I will put this letter before you to be censured, and if you see anything in it that demands the file or erasure, I entreat you to correct a friend in a friendly way. I shall not only not take it amiss, but shall consider myself to have received the greatest favor, and be thankful for it. . . . You are living in the midst of studies of Ciceronian art, while I have been quite deprived of all facilities of reading.

"You of each newest book unfold
With curious hand the stainless page
While scarce a volume soiled and old has reached my fingers for an age.

In tiny chamber calm and still you sit, and build the lofty rhyme.
I would answer your letter sentence by sentence, if the end of my paper did not bid me come to a conclusion. . . . One thing I beg of you, that you will exhort and entreat him (Cornelius) to apply himself to literary work, and to persevere in bringing his writings before the public. He has the power of doing so, for everything is in his favor; although the gods sell us all things for labor. Farewell; and love me, as you do."

SUNSHINE STORED UP IN COAL

The vegetable tissues, says Prof. Rice, whose remains, preserved from complete decomposition, are stored up in the form of coal, were produced by the energy of the sunbeams that shone upon the earth tens of millions of years ago in the carboniferous era. Then, as now, the energy of the sunbeams tore asunder the molecules of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, and stored up the carbon in living tissues. Then, as now, that energy of the sunbeam was converted into the potential energy of the carbon atoms. And so when we warm our dwellings by the burning of coal or by electricity produced by a dynamo which is run by a coal-fed steam engine, we are warming and lighting our dwellings with sunbeams of the carboniferous age.

In like manner every one should have a storage of sunshine, to draw upon when periods of sorrow and disappointment come. "A broken spirit, who can bear?" but a cheerful heart carries one a long way to heaven. "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

POTS AND PANS

Pots and pans should never be left lying about, but should be cleaned at once. As soon as they are finished with the pans should be filled with boiling water to which a small piece of soda has been added, and then rinsed out well; any remains of food having been carefully removed, wipe well, and place on the pot rack until next morning, when they can be thoroughly cleansed. Seamless steel should be rinsed and dried at once, otherwise it will lose its bright appearance, while nothing shows carelessness treatment more readily than aluminum. On no account should aluminum be cleaned with soda, this being an exception to the general rule. Soda blackens aluminum immediately. Vessels of this metal should simply be well washed and dried, and then polished with a paste of whiting or with a powder especially sold for the purpose. Soda, however, is most efficacious in cleaning other kitchen ware. After the pans have been washed with soda water they should be treated in this manner: Soap a discloth well, then dip it in silver sand and thoroughly remove all stains; rinse thoroughly before putting the pans away.

MARK TWAIN'S PILOT DAYS

Old pilots of that day remembered Samuel Clemens as a slender, fine-looking man, well dressed, even dandified, generally wearing blue serge, with fancy shirts, white duck trousers and patent leather shoes. A pilot could do that, for his surroundings were spickless.

The pilots regarded him as a great reader—a student of history, travels and the sciences. In the association rooms they often saw him poring over serious books. He began to study French one day in New Orleans, when he discovered a school of languages where French, German and Italian were taught, one in each of three rooms. The price was $25 for one language, or three for $50. The student was provided with a set of conversation cards for each, and was supposed to walk from one apartment to another, changing his nationality at each threshold. The young pilot, with his usual enthusiasm, invested in all three languages, but after a few round trips decided that French would do. He did not return to the school, but kept the cards and added text books. He studied faithfully when off watch and in port, and his old river notebook, still preserved, contains a number of advanced exercises neatly written out.—Albert Bigelow Paine in the February St. Nicholas.

rows,
Hark, I hear
Patter of feet from the brown hares'

burrows
Dimly near;
Wing-soft shimmer of meadow

grasses,
Bird calls flung on each breeze that passes,
Bullfrogs h't from the far morasses,
Sounding clear.

Fragrant whispers of green things growing,
Dreamer heard;
Brookside mint in the dawn-wind blowing;

Wakened bird;
White mists lifting from swamp-

Hoofbeats plodding on sandy ledges,
And a Roman crew through the
May-white hedges,
Wander stirred!

Uncle Billy Mesa: No; it is not necessary. When the train stops I'll step off.

PERHAPS

"And what do you propose to do now, William?" asked his father of the son who had just come home after graduation at college.

"Oh," yawned the optimistic young man, "I think I'll go over to New York and look for a position at five thousand per—understand? At five thousand per."

"Oh, yes," said the old man, "I understand. You mean at five thousand perhaps!"
